Power line right of way

Poor establishment of native grass in 2003. Cover crop may have been too thick.

All photos by Mike Ryon

Power line right of way

Mixed success in 2004. Some wildflowers and sparse native grass established, but also extensive Lespedeza. Primary benefit was to prevent more fescue planting.

Power line right of way

Native grasses becoming more prominent and additional wildflowers present

September 2005

Power line right of way:

Haul road changed landscape, and invasive plants became more of a problem.

September 2008